INDIANAPOLIS, Sept 18.—Ex Secretary Bristow addressed an immense audience at Masonic Hall to night, thousands being unable to gain admittance. Bristow was escorted to the hall by the Hayes guards

Mr. Trumbull at Chicago.

CHICAGO Sept. 18.—Hon Lyman Trumbull addressed a large Democratic mass meeting in Farewell Hall to night about 2 000 people being present. This was his first speech in the campaign. He argued that the Republican party needs thorough reform, it admitted as much in its platform and confessed practically its inability to accomplish that reform. The party and not Grant is responsible for the errors of this administration and politicians are now running the party for their own purposes. They would control Hayes if he were elected. The Republican party had retrograded since 1860. It was no more the same party than the Democratic party was the same. They contested new issues. There was no doubt that the Democrats were the reformers. He instanced the retrenchments of the House and its investigations as evidence to support this assertion. He compared the merits of the two candidates and while crediting both with honesty of purpose and purity of life and denouncing the income tax stories as defamatory and not worth discussing he said Hayes would be swayed by the machine men of his party and his administration would despite his character and probity, be a continuance of Grantism and corruption. He declared the Republican party has not fulfilled its promises. He complained that the hard times, corruption and debauchery in office were the legitimate results of their unfulfilled promises, and urged the election of Tilden and Hendricks as the means of securing a better fraternal feeling

Mr Trumbull will first attend to some professional business in Springfield and thence proceed to Indiana and take part in the canvass in that State

THE SIOUX CAMPAIGN.

Dispatches from Gen. Crook.

RED CLOUD AGENCY, Sept 17 via Fort Laramie Sept 18.—Gruard Gen Crook's chief scout arrived here last night with dispatches for Gen McKenzie from Gen Crook. He left the command on the afternoon of the 11th and reports that last Sunday Crook's advance of a hundred and fifty men struck an Indian camp about fifty miles north of Crook City. That night the remainder of the command arrived and an attack was made by Crook the fight lasting until noon Monday when the Indians were routed with a loss to the whites of only three killed and nine wounded. Fourteen dead Indians were found on the battle-field and four bodies are known to have been carried off. Thirty-five Indian lodges were burned by the whites with all their contents. During the fight the Indians received reinforcements. Twenty-one Indians were captured but of these two bucks and nine squaws were released; the remainder are being brought in. It is known that in the vicinity of the place where the fight occurred there has been a camp of hostile Indians for several months from which raids were made on the Black Hills miners but Gruard thinks the Indians attacked were of Sitting Bull's command, for the reason that the spoils of Custer's massacre were found among which were $900 in money

It is reported here that Sheridan is at Fort Laramie and that Crook is expected to meet him there to-day. Gruard says he cannot get there by the time designated. Among those killed was White a scout; the other two were privates. Second Lieutenant A H Von Leutwitz, of the 3d Cavalry was wounded in the knee and had his leg amputated. He was captain in the 58th New York Regiment during the war. The fighting was mostly done by the 2d and 3d Cavalry

Return of the Indian Commission from Spotted Tail Agency

Bishop Whipple and Messrs Daniels, Howard and Hinman, of the Sioux commission returned to Red Cloud from Spotted Tail Agency yesterday evening and report that the council held by them with Spotted Tail's Indians on the preceding day was well attended but nothing was done beyond presenting the propositions of the government. To morrow is the day set for the council here at which the commission hope to receive an answer from Red Cloud's people to the propositions which were presented here on the 7th. The Indians here mostly all connected with this agency have gone into camp on Shadron creek twenty miles distant and about half way between here and Spotted Tail as they represent, for the purpose of consulting with the Indians of that agency. Gruard says he is convinced that two thirds of the hostiles are Indians belonging to Red Cloud Spotted Tail and Missouri agencies, and that a large amount of supplies have been received from the same sources, and that there are thousands of Indians now in the northern country who do not belong there. Gruard has been with Sitting Bull two or three years and knows the northern country thoroughly and all Indians belonging there. The counts made here and at Spotted Tail by the military recently show twelve thousand five hundred absentees with very old and very young Indians preponderating among those remaining here

CHEYENNE, Sept. 18.—A courier from Crook's camp on Whitewood creek Sept 16th arrived at Sage creek to night, and brings the following news. Since the fighting on the 9th inst the command has worked its way to the Belle Fourche subsisting on fresh horse and dried meats captured from the Sioux. The supplies from Deadwood mines were met there on the 13th and this morning they moved up here where everything is in abundance. The march of September 14th between Owl creek and Belle Fourche river thirty odd miles was through mud and rain and was one of the most exhausting the troops ever experienced in any country. The weather has since been good and new life has been infused into the command whose future movements now depend on Sheridan who has sent for Crook to visit him at Fort Laramie at once. Crook goes hence to-morrow to be followed by his command at an early date probably as far as Custer City. On the 12th instant Col Upham of the 5th cavalry made a detour on an Indian trail down Owl river across to Belle Fourche and up to the main command. He found the Indian trail too old to follow further but yesterday morning he lost Private Miller Co A whom the Indians surprised while out hunting.

Crook Destroys an Indian Village and all the Indians in It.

FORT SULLY Sept. 18.—Heavy firing was heard on the river ten miles below here last Tuesday apparently in the direction of the Black Hills but no explanation of it was had until yesterday. About ten days ago Col Buell commanding at Cheyenne river agency sent some scouts out to Gen Terry who failed to reach him; but were attacked by Indians and one man wounded in the shoulder. While retreating they came across a large military trail which proved to be Gen Crook's. On the way the scouts saw a camp of thirty lodges near Slim Buttes north of Harney's peak and when Crook was overtaken the scouts informed him and turning back his cavalry by rapid march Crook surprised and killed every one estimated at number between two and three hundred Indians. Not one escaped. To-day Gen Stanley takes the census of all the Indians near here and will to-morrow disarm and dismount them. It is expected the Indians will try to oppose this; but Gen Buell is firm and will carry out his orders to the letter

Hostile Indians Surrendering

FORT LARAMIE Wy Sept 17.—The following dispatch has just been received from the Department of Dakota. CHICAGO Sept. 16th

LT GEN P H SHERIDAN Fort Laramie Wy—Col Buell commanding Cheyenne agency under date of 9th inst. says as follows: Have had messengers yesterday and to-day direct from the hostile camp who report the camp near Slim Buttes 150 miles distant. They also report Gen Terry's column on Beaver creek moving towards the Missouri. The Indians are very desirous of surrendering. I have stated to the messengers that it could only be unconditional viz surrender arms remain as prisoners and submit to whatever punishment and other treatment the proper authority might dictate. Have sent a courier to Gen Terry who will reach him in about five days

MADRID Sept 18.—It is semi officially stated no news has passed between Spain and foreign governments concerning the recent orders about the placards on Protestant churches. The British minister merely had a confidential interview with the foreign minister, but as the government had acted according to the constitution, the interview was without result. The Diaro Espanol states that the authorities of Castile have prohibited the sale of Protestant bibles. The government has caused the publication of a manifesto issued abroad by certain Spanish conspirators calling themselves Reformists and Republicans. The manifesto promises a redistribution of property. The government's course in publishing it is applauded

The Turkish Terms Disapproved.

BERLIN Sept 18.—The Turkish terms are disapproved but as the Powers failed to agree upon a common programme, the immediate result is nothing worse than a continuation of the war and the increase of Russian auxiliaries in the Servian camp. It is not apprehended that Russia will carry out her threat of direct interference as long as the Servians manage to hold Deligrade and Alexinatz, and as the autumnal rains are commencing, the Servians are pretty safe if they can hold out a few weeks longer. What Russia might be tempted to do were the Servians to sustain a crushing defeat before they are rescued by the weather is a different question

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept 18.—The Porte in his reply to the ambassadors said orders for suspension of hostilities should not be given publicity for fear of agitation among the Mohammedans

Great meeting in London on the Eastern Question.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—An immense meeting on the Eastern question was held at Guild Hall to-day over which the Lord Mayor presided. The proceedings were marked by some disorder. An address to the Queen was voted deploring the outrages of the Turks and praying England no longer to support Turkey from considerations of political expediency. An amendment expressing confidence in the government was rejected by an overwhelming majority. A motion in favor of the immediate convocation of Parliament was carried. The crowd was so great that the vast throng was unable to get into Guild Hall and another meeting was held outside the building

Why the Servians recrossed the Drina.

LONDON Sept 19.—The Standard's Belgrade special says the retreat of the Servians across the Drina was caused by an alarming rise of the river and was well timed, for soon after they withdrew the plain in which their camp had been pitched was covered with a vast sheet of water. Their headquarters are now at Pettornach, opposite Javor. General Tchernayoff's freak in causing Prince Milan to be proclaimed King by the army is productive of much annoyance. The Porte intimates that the truce will cease on the 25th but expresses the hope that by that time the European Powers will have fully considered the terms of peace. The general opinion in Belgrade is that peace is further off than war. The Russians continue to pour in and great preparations are making for the winter campaign. Minister Ristics has made an official complaint that the Turks don't respect the truce and states on the authority of General Tchernayoff that they made an attack on the Servians Sunday

BERLIN Sept 19.—A dispatch to the Standard says it is probable the Porte will resume hostilities at the expiration of the ten days truce because the Servian army declared Prince Milan King of Servia

Outbreak of War between Turkey and Persia.

LONDON Sept 18.—A dispatch from Tabrez reports that frequent violations of the boundary line between Turkey and Persia have recently occurred. Small encounters between the Turks and Persians take place daily. Several frontier villages have been burned. The authorities are hastily dispatching troops to the scene

LONDON Sept 19.—The Daily News special telegraphs that nothing definite has been settled. It is problematical whether the suspension of hostilities will be the prelude to a formal armistice or a peaceful settlement of the affairs in the East. Russian influence is understood to be against any arrangement at present under the apprehension that peace now might not include the autonomy of Bulgaria Bosnia and Herzegovina. Nothing less will satisfy the Sclaves

The Turkish Order Communicated to Prince Milan.

A telegram to the Times from Daniluppol states that the European Powers communicated to the Prince of Montenegro the order of the Porte suspending hostilities with the request that the Prince would issue a corresponding order. The Montenegrins will therefore maintain a defensive attitude and all military positions on both sides will remain unchanged

The Porte's Concessions Unsatisfactory.

The Times Vienna correspondent says despite the Porte's concessions the impression produced is unsatisfactory apart from the unanimous opinion that the conditions of peace it proposes are inadmissible. This indirect and imperfect way of complying with the wishes of the Powers seems to have produced an effect contrary to what the Porte expected. While England was inclined to acquiesce in Turkey's answer because a de facto armistice might be easily prolonged the other powers desired a regular armistice. The great impediment to granting an armistice was the strong feeling among the Mohammedans. This had found expression in the resolution of the Grand Council the meaning of which is unmistakable. The dread of an outburst is still felt. It was only after an interview of five hours with leading men that the Austrian ambassador got an assurance in writing that the orders for the cessation of hostilities would be issued. The term of suspension seems short but the preparatory work had been done by England and Austria. Both have been formulating certain conditions each taking status quo ante bellum as the basis of any arrangement regarding Servia and Montenegro. The English proposals touching Bosnia and Herzegovina look to reforms in the nature of local autonomy. In regard to Bulgaria administrative reforms are proposed which are calculated to prevent the recurrence of the atrocities.

California State Fair.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 18.—The State Fair opened to day under more auspicious circumstances than either of the two preceding fairs. The pavilion opens to night, and judging from the display this afternoon, the exhibition will be tolerably complete. The city is unusually full for the first day of the fair

There was a good attendance at the track. The first race was the Winters stake of $300 mile and quarter dash for three year old fillies. There were seven entries, but only two started—John Hall's Rosewood and Theo Winters' Mollie McCarthy. Rosewood had the pole. Mollie was a length ahead at the first quarter, which was made in 25 seconds. Mollie kept the lead around the track winning in 2 13 by three lengths

The second race was a mile dash for two-year olds for a purse of $250. The starters were Centennial Belle Ralston Mollie H and Lena Dunbar. Ralston was the favorite by big odds. All the horses looked well being probably the finest field of two year olds ever started in the State. Ralston drew the pole, and Belle Mollie and Dunbar as named. They had a good start, and at the half mile all were in a bunch. Ralston then took the lead and won in 1 46. Mollie and Belle close together a little behind and Lena tailing

The next race was for Spirit of Times stake, mile and repeat. Elizabeth Tilton War Beecher and Mollie McCarty started. First heat was declared "no heat" owing to a mistake in giving the signal. On the second trial a good start was obtained. Beecher led to the first quarter when Mollie passed him and returned her advantage to to the score, winning in 1 43⅞ by two lengths, Beecher 2d. Tilton barely saving her distance. The second heat Mollie had the worst send off but passed her competitors on the back stretch, and won the heat and race handily in 1.45½,—Beecher, 2d.

BANTAS Sept 18.—The special train going west met with an accident. The trestle work on Tom Paine's slough one and a half miles east of this station, gave way precipitating thirteen cars in the slough, making a total wreck of them. Two dead bodies have been found so far probably stowaways as all the train men are safe. Mr E C Fellows general superintendent, arrived on a special train with a large force of men and the damage will be repaired as quickly as possible. Nos 1 and 2 overland trains, will be delayed about five hours. The passengers and baggage will have to be transferred by teams.

U S CIRCUIT COURT—DISTRICT OF OREGON.

MONDAY SEPTEMBER 18, 1876

W T Wythe v The City of Salem—No 247—Action to recover possession of real property

A plea of estoppel by conduct, not showing that the defendant was ignorant of the truth of the matter or could not conveniently have ascertained the same nor that the defendant had acted upon the matter claimed as an estoppel, stricken out on motion of plaintiff

In a plea of a former judgment in an action at law, it is a sufficient description of the cause of action in the first action to allege that it was identical with that stated in the complaint in the action pending

DEADY J

This is an action to recover possession of a block of land in the town of Salem, known as Marion square

The defendant, by its amended answer filed January 21, 1876 admits that the plaintiff is the owner of the fee in the premises, but denies that he is entitled to the possession of them. Besides the denials, the answer contains three separate defences, namely (1), a former adjudication, (2) a dedication of the premises by Chloe A Willson, the grantor of the plaintiff, to the use of the inhabitants of said town, forever, and (3) an estoppel

The plaintiff demurs to the first and second plea and moves to strike out the third one.

The motion to strike out is allowed. The plea of estoppel is founded upon the alleged public declarations of Chloe A Willson in 1857, to the effect that she had set apart said square for the use of the defendant forever, and alleges that the defendant relying upon said declarations improved said square in 1867 at a cost of $500. But it does not appear, but that the defendant knew, as well as said Chloe, whether such dedication had been made or not, or that it could not conveniently have ascertained how the fact was, if it had desired to. The plea also states that the defendant was in possession of the premises at the date of such declarations and has been ever since, so that, upon its own showing, it has not changed its position in regard to the property since the making of the same or incurred any liability or expense on the faith of them, save the expenditure of this $500 for improvements, which is probably much less than the value of the use and occupation of the premises for over 20 years. (See Moreland vs County of Marion, U S C C Dis. of Or, August 7, 1876) Under the plea of dedication any admissions of a prior dedication by Chloe A Willson, can be considered and have such weight as under the circumstances they are entitled to.

The second plea is sufficient, except that it contains no allegation that Chloe A. Willson had any interest in the premises to dedicate. This was stated on the argument to have been an oversight on the part of the pleader, and may be amended

The first plea alleges that on June 25, 1868, in an action brought by Chloe A Willson against this defendant in the circuit court for the county of Marion, "for the same identical cause of action as that set forth in the complaint herein," the defendant had judgment against said Chloe A., for the perpetual possession of said square for the use of the inhabitants of said defendant, as a public square," which judgment is still in full force, and that plaintiff claims under said Chloe A since the date of said judgment

On the argument of the demurrer, counsel for the plaintiff insisted that a plea of former adjudication must state particularly what the cause of action was in the prior suit, so that the court can see that it is identical with that of the present one, and that therefore it is not sufficient to aver, as is done in this case, that the cause of action is the same or identical, but that the facts must be stated in detail. In support of this position counsel cited Heatherly v Hadley 2 Or 273, in which it is said that "In pleading a former suit or action in bar, it is necessary to state facts showing what was the matter determined in the former suit," and the mere conclusion that they are the same is insufficient.

In support of this opinion the court cites Fowler v Hait 10 John, 111, and Logan v. Talmage, 14 John, 511. The first case was an action before a justice and upon certiorari it was held that the defendant having omitted to plead or give notice of a former trial and judgment concerning the same matter was therefore precluded from giving evidence of it at the trial of the second action. But this ruling only goes to the point that a former adjudication must be pleaded and is silent upon the question of what is a sufficient plea of such adjudication

The second case was a suit in equity where in the chancellor had permitted a former decree between the same parties to be read at the hearing, without the same having been pleaded or relied upon in the answer as a bar (2 Johns, ch 56), and this, Spencer, J., delivering the prevailing opinion in the court of errors, held to be erroneous, saying, "It is a well established rule in equity that a plea in bar of a former decree must state so much of the former bill and answer as to show that the same point was then in issue." The case itself is authority for the rule, which is undoubted, that a former decree to be available in bar of a subsequent suit must be pleaded or relied on in the answer, but how or with what particularity it must be pleaded or stated in the answer it does not decide. In Story's Eq P § 701 it is said, that, "Upon a plea of a former decree, so much of the former bill and answer must be set forth as is necessary to show that the same point was in issue." But this is so on account of the numerous matters, involving many points and questions, often contained in a suit in equity and determined by its decree. In such a case it may be insufficient as was held in Heatherly v Hadley supra to simply aver "that all the matters and things alleged in this suit" have been adjudicated in a former suit between the same parties.

But in an action at law a specified definite object is sought to be obtained on account of some particular wrong or neglect of duty, or failure to comply with an obligation on the part of the defendant, and the scope and operation of the judgment which is given therein is limited accordingly. Therefore, in pleading a former adjudication at law, it is convenient and sufficient to say that the cause of action was, the same or identical with that set forth in the complaint in the now action or with some branch or feature of the case made in the Bill if it be a suit in equity and the plea is only to a part of the Bill, as often happens. In Story's Eq P § 780 a, it is stated that a plea of prior judgment in the Lord Mayor's court on the same subject matter, on which the Bill sought relief was held good. The plea itself is given in the note 3 to the same §, and while it contained some folios of introductory matter the essential allegation as to the identity of the matter adjudged and that set up in the Bill is contained in the statement that the demands of the defendant which are controverted by the complainant's now Bill and the demands of this defendant which were established by said adjudication, are the same and not otherwise or different." In 3 Chitty's P 928, a precedent is given of a former judgment, in which it is simply stated that the plaintiff impleaded the defendant in a certain term before a certain court, in a certain plea of trespass on the case on promises for the not performing the very same identical promises and undertakings in the said declaration mentioned," upon which the plaintiff had judgment. The plea in this case is substantially in the same form. It avers that the action brought by Chloe A against the defendant was "for the same identical cause of action as that set forth in the complaint herein" and that judgment was given upon the merits in favor of the defendant's right of possession as above stated.

In 2 Estes, P 702, 715, a precedent is given of a plea of "Another action pending" and also a "Former judgment," in both of which the allegation as to the identity of the cause of action is a simple averment that the pending or former action is or was "for the same cause of action as that set forth in the complaint herein"

The plea is sufficient, and the demurrer thereto is disallowed.

N. B Knight for the defendant.

TUESDAY MORNING, SEPT. 19, 1876.

THE SITUATION AT SALEM.

To-day at 12 o'clock the two branches of the legislature will vote severally for U. S. Senator. In case the same person receives a majority of the votes in each house he will be duly elected; but in case no person shall receive a majority in both houses, then the two houses will meet in joint convention to-morrow and proceed to ballot jointly, and so every day till an election is had. It is hardly probable, according to the best information we have been able to obtain, that Governor Grover, the nominee of the rump caucus, will receive a majority of the votes in both branches to-day. In the House no one will receive a majority. The result will be a protraction of the button-holing and trading for another day, and perhaps for many days; and in the meantime there will be no end of lying and cheating, and all that general moral debauchery, which is commonly designated by the mild term "working." This comes largely of caucus rule,—the caucus being the most successful of all the schools of immorality and corruption which the lower order of politics sustains. We do not mean to say that all species of corruption have their springs in the caucus system, but that as many of them and as great, are traceable to that fountain head as to any other.

The caucus crowd will balk at nothing to bring in those of their party who have thus far refused to surrender their individuality into the keeping of the managers, and the anti-caucus crowd, most of whom are anti-caucus merely because their pet man failed to receive the nomination, will leave no means untried to break up the caucus organization. It is a Democratic family quarrel with which we trust the Republicans will not soil their hands. If there is any possibility of inducing a sufficient number of the Democrats to exercise their divine right to bolt and go for a Republican who is worthy of the place, that is an object worth using all honorable means for its accomplishment. In the present aspect of public affairs it does seem to be rather an important matter whether Oregon sends a Democratic or a Republican Senator to Washington for the next six years, and the Republicans in the Legislature could do no wiser thing than to secure, if possible, the votes of the anti-Grover Democrats for a good Republican. But so long as there is no possibility of accomplishing anything in that line so long as it is simply a choice between Grover and some other Democrat, the question for every Republican to ask himself is, what Democrat is the best man? It is their right to vote for a Democrat if they choose to do so. In the exercise of that right they ought to act on their consciences, the same as in any other business devolving on them as members of the assembly. If they can, by combining with a part of the the Democrats, elect a man Senator who is better qualified for the place than Grover, in point of ability or patriotism, or both, they should do so without a moment's hesitation. But on the other hand they will in all probability live to regret their mistake, if they persist in electing some Democrat who lacks the qualifications which Grover possesses. To a Republican no Democrat can be an acceptable candidate for the Senate; but the Republican members were not selected merely for the purpose of engaging in a Democratic brawl. They must answer to their constituents and their consciences in this matter as in all others. Any trading combination they can get up with the dissatisfied Democrats, since Nesmith and Kelly and Slater are out of the contest, would most likely prove to be "swapping the devil for a witch."

We acknowledge no friendship to Gov. Grover politically, and we hope not to be misconstrued in this matter. What we wish, and what we would advise, is, that Republicans act on their individual consciences, and that they do not allow themselves, under any circumstances, to become the instruments of these Democratic manipulators in selecting an unworthy man for Senator. If Grover can be beaten with a better man, though that better man be a Democrat, beat him by all means; but if he can not, then Republicans would do well to keep out of all combinations with Democrats, and cast their votes for a Republican and keep their consciences clear.

SEND ON THE FRUIT.

A gentleman from Yamhill county is of opinion that Oregon has already been advertised too much at the East, and he is therefore opposed to the appropriation of money to send an exhibit of our fruit to the Centennial. This is a singular view for an intelligent man to take of the subject. It is impossible to advertise the State too much, so long as the advertisement is confined to the truth. There is ground to say that Oregon is advertised recklessly, and that many are misled thereby to their injury. When interested parties advertise in the East substantially that good farms are to had here for the taking, so that the immigrant arriving here now has about as good a show for a home as those had who came twenty-five years ago, they are guilty of a gross fraud. Good open land can be had in Oregon by paying a fair price for it, and in no other way. There is yet good land to be taken which is covered with timber, and east of the mountains there is some good prairie land yet unsettled; but the best is taken in both sections of the State. This false advertising is a wrong which can be characterized sufficiently severely by calling it a crime. But the remedy is to tell the truth—to advertise truthfully. The actual products of our soil and climate cannot lie. Our land speculators may lie, like the land speculators in other countries, but our apples and pears and plums and wheat do not and cannot lie. Let these be exhibited, and the whole story of the productiveness of our wonderfully fertile land is told, without exaggeration and without coloring. Send the fruit, and let us give the world the truth.

An ordinary riot is neither uncommon nor very alarming. Infractions of law of this kind frequently occur in large cities and in densely populated districts of country; but there is generally an element of safety in them, which is that the offending party and the party striving to maintain the law are people of one blood and one race. But the late riots in South Carolina are serious and alarming for the reason that in them race is opposed to race, and the inciting cause is the hatred of the one for the other. There is much cause for apprehending the outbreak of the worst kind of civil war in that State. The least provocation seems sufficient to bring on strife and bloodshed. The whites and negroes are so much at enmity that no confidence is put by either in the other. Each side lays the blame of the existing state of affairs upon the other. Both, perhaps, have been in the wrong. It may be impossible now to tell which is more so; but at least this much may be said, that since the whites are and have been better educated and more intelligent than the blacks, more self-restraint, more prudence and more calm, dispassionate exercise of reason were to be looked for from them than from the negroes. They should have taught the blacks how to obey the law and become good citizens by example as well as precept. This we fear they have not done. In all the accounts of disorderly proceedings in South Carolina, and in all the comments of the press of that State upon such occurrences, which we have seen, enough is evident to the most casual reader to show that the right spirit does not prevail among the whites, and that they are far from blameless in their customary treatment of the negroes. There is enough to show that if there is much to complain of in the conduct of the negroes, and there is, the whites have also many errors to regret and many faults to correct before a good state of things will exist in South Carolina.

The telegraph still fails to bring the promised explanation of Mr. Samuel J. Tilden, of his income fraud. But the New York Times brings some further statements about the matter which place it in a much worse light than anything hitherto published. A fac simile of the false return of Mr. Tilden of his income in 1862, wherein he states his taxable income to have been $7,118, is followed by what is presented as some items of what would have been a true statement of Mr. Tilden's income during that year. These items foot up $108,000. After deducting from this sum all allowances under the law, and the $12,500 which Mr. Tilden's friends claim was not earned in 1862, and therefore was not taxable though collected in that year, and also deducting the amount returned by him to the assessor, there remains of fraudulently concealed income of 1862 upon which Tilden paid no tax, $81,832. This model reformer swindled the people of the United States in that year out of the tax on what would be to most people a handsome fortune.

A man takes a solemn oath that his income for a certain length of time was $7,118. Sometime afterwards circumstances occur which cause the matter to be investigated, and it turns out that his income was near $100,000. But he is put up as the Democratic candidate for President of the United States, before the fact of this having taken a false oath became known, but the truth is all out before the election takes place. Must the Democrats support him notwithstanding these facts? That is the question which every Democrat is called upon to answer in his conscience this fall.

Tilden's promised statement fails to appear. Day succeeds day, and the Democratic politicians grow even more impatient than they grew when he withheld the letter of acceptance so long. It is a safe prediction that the precious document will never be seen. What possible explanation can he make when the charge against him is made upon the direct authority of official records? It is too thin, this request for a suspension of hostilities to give him time to explain. He is "in for it" and there is no way of escape.

NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN TO ALL PERSONS NOT to buy or trade for Four Promissory Notes for $75 (Seventy-five dollars) each, drawn in favor of one Martin Luther Smith, on the 30th day of August, 1876, at Salem, Oregon. The first payable three months after date; second six months after date; third nine months after date, and the fourth twelve months after date. The first note had an endorsement of twenty dollars ($20.) The above notes were fraudulently obtained, which I am able to prove, and will not pay the same.

RUPTURE!

No More Metallic Trusses Used!

No More Suffering from Iron Hoops or Steel Springs!

THE SUPERIORITY OF OUR ELASTIC Trusses over the rigid Iron Hoops, which in former days were the only resource of the ruptured, admits of NO ARGUMENT.

By means of this appliance the pressure on the Rupture itself can be made uniform and continuous, and to the extent required in each case, until a slight inflammation of the parts is secured, and the consequent effusion of lymph which is essential to a healing process, and from this time to the conclusion of the treatment, the pressure, being entirely within the control of the patient, can be lessened daily as the adhesion progresses and the body becomes sound. All cases of reducible Hernia are permanently relieved without regard to the age of the patient or the duration of the injury, while in its action it is wholly free from all the cruelty that has characterized the treatment of the malady with tortuous Metal Trusses from the earliest age to the present day. Your attention is called to the following facts:

1st—There are no springs to press upon or to injure the back.

2d—It is simple in construction, and not liable to get out of order.

3d—This instrument is worn with perfect ease while riding horseback.

4th—The Rupture is retained and the pressure the same while in any position.

5th—It has none of the injurious results of metallic Trusses.

6th—It will perform radical cures when all others fail.

7th—It's worn with ease and comfort night and day, which cannot be said truthfully of an metal Truss whatever.

Experience shows that all tempered spring Trusses necessarily press upon and often disease parts of the body that before were in a perfectly healthy condition. Lumbago and other equally distressing ailments are not unfrequently the outgrowth of such pressure, and in view of this fact it becomes a matter of decided consequence to avoid like calamities, if possible.

Examination Free. The closest scrutiny of physicians solicited.

Beware of Bogus articles called Elastic Trusses. Dr. ROWE, Inventor and Patentee of Elastic Trusses. All parties infringing either by sale or manufacture, will be dealt with in such manner as the law provides.

CITY.

A Sad Accident —Mr Wm Showers, who was employed at the sash and door factory of Ainslie & Davidson on Second street between E and F, met with a shocking accident yesterday forenoon He was engaged in feeding the planing machine and having occasion to reach over the knife while it was in motion in order to turn a screw, got his left hand caught in some manner In a flash, the limb was drawn in and severed just below the elbow That portion of the hand and arm which was taken off was cut into hundreds of pieces and scattered about the floor The limb choked the knife and stopped the machine, or else the entire arm might have been severed. Some portions of the flesh and muscles which had not been cut in twain held the limb fast, and he was unable to extricate the mangled and bleeding stump Mr ...n, who witnessed the shocking casualty, came to the rescue, but was compelled to sever the ligaments with a knife before the limb could be freed The pain and hemorrhage was great, but Mr. Showers showed remarkable coolness and nerve. He walked into the office and sat down until the mangled limb could be wrapped up and bandaged Drs Cardwell and Strong were summoned and after the wounded man was removed to his home his injuries were properly attended to

MONTGOMERY QUEEN'S CIRCUS.

Montgomery Queen's great circus menagerie and caravan performed last night at Albany and will be in this city soon He is announced to give performances in Portland on Sept 28th 29th and 30th and also on Oct 2 This establishment is an institution with a recognized reputation and widely known as the only show which gives the public fifty times more than is actually promised for their money As this is the age of huge events so it is also the age of an honest exhibitor. Montgomery Queen has stepped to the front with the conscientious scruples of a high toned gentleman, with a soul the very embodiment of honor with an idea above the mere grasping of the almighty dollar and a show of such combined attractions and magnitude as to sink into insignificance all former efforts of narrow, contracted and feeble minded show proprietors and managers Montgomery Queen understands that the people of the Pacific coast are not slow to patronize first class amusements The advertisements of Mr Queen can hardly give a correct idea of the many artistic elegances of the great show In fact it can hardly be faithfully described it must be seen No language can understandingly paint in sufficiently glowing colors the beautiful outfit and the daring and seemingly almost superhuman endurance of the wondrous association of talent selected from every civilized portion of the globe

It is most refreshing to be entertained by an assemblage of riders like Sig Quaglieni Abelardo Lowande and Mollie Brown and such surpassingly beautiful arenic talent as the Matthews family, the Kenebels Levantine, Austin and their host of auxiliaries The great feats of strength by the French female Samson D Atallie, Pierce, the tamer of tigers Drayton the conqueror of hyenas, and the youthful M'lle Pauline, subduer of lions, the elephants of Thomson, and the great caravan of wild beasts comprise a show which has no parallel on the broad face of the globe and which has been visited by over one hundred thousand of our citizens

IMPROVEMENT OF THE UPPER WALLAMET.

Mr P Paquet furnishes the Willamette Farmer the following information concerning the construction of wing dams along the channel of the Upper Wallamet

One at Half Moon Bend, four miles below Corvallis one at Bower's Bar three miles above Albany and one at Buena Vista Bar the last about 600 feet long the first named 400 feet the next 200 He has now one ... working at Pine Tree rapids three miles below Albany requiring 400 feet, of which 300 have been completed another at Long Crossing 3 miles below Buena Vista to be 400 feet, just commenced others are to be built as follows At Upper Pickles about six miles below Albany 100 feet at Lower Pickles 100 feet mouth of Santiam 100 feet and some work may be done at mouth of the Luckiamute 100 feet at Humphrey's Bar six miles below Buena Vista At the present time a gang of men are engaged blasting rock to clear the channel at the latter place where 75 yards of rock will be removed from swift water and make a good channel The same force will afterwards return down to Rocky Island six miles above Salem and remove 100 yards of rock there

Several causes tend to make navigation on the Upper Willamette much better than usual the present year The wing dams constructed last fall have proved permanent and have greatly helped the river to improve its own channel so that Lemon bar fifteen miles below Salem and Lone Tree bar eight miles below here that used to be the sticking points on the river below Salem, are now easily passed It is believed that the construction of wing dams in the river will tend to confine the river to a permanent channel, and so cause it to improve gradually year after by its own action Such is the experience with work already done Another fact favorable to navigation is the construction of light draught steamboats that agree better with the low stage of water common to summer and fall than those formerly in use We allude to the City of Salem Bonanza and Ohio Mr Paquet says he can see no reason why the river cannot be made navigable at low water as far up as the forks of the main stream, six miles below Eugene, and believes the expenditure of $100,000 in judicious improvements with some repairs effected yearly thereafter at a trifling expense would accomplish this most desirable result

A Remedy that Defies Competition

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters defy competition Of the host of rival tonics that have cropped up during its long career not one has gained and retained such a large share of public favor though many have enjoyed an ephemeral popularity The reason is that whereas many of these medicines were advertised to perform cures of the most startling nature they have when tested almost invariably turned out to be of little or no value while the great invigorant whose reputation they were intended to rival has never disappointed those who have placed their confidence in it It has vindicated in the amplest manner its claims to be considered a positive specific remedy for Liver complaint dyspepsia intermittent fevers debility constipation and numerous other maladies arising from general weakness and disorders of the stomach liver and bowels

The Raw Blustering Winds of Winter and Early Spring search out the weaknesses of all who are predisposed to Lung Complaints and in consequence Colds Coughs and Bronchial Disorders everywhere prevail Those who have contracted Colds should be especially careful and not imprudently wait until by constant coughing they so irritate and rack their Lungs as to bring on themselves a very serious Pulmonary Affection Let them rather treat their symptoms rationally and at once and by the prompt use of Dr Jayne's Expectorant cure their Colds and heal all accompanying Soreness of the Chest

CINCINNATI April 1 1876

Messrs LILIENTHAL & Co

Gentlemen—I have just returned from a trip through Kentucky Ohio and West Virginia, undertaken for the purpose of examining the various distilleries in those districts, and I am now more than ever confirmed in the opinion, so often expressed to you that your distillery is the most complete and best conducted of any in the United States

The careful selection of your grain the purity of the water the slower and more cautious method of distillation, is what gives the NOBLE WHISKY its superior qualities, and has gained for it the reputation which it universally sustains throughout the United States

Gratified that the 20 years devoted to the distillation of the CYRUS NOBLE WHISKY, has been attended with such happy results, I trust I may be spared to continue my labors in its interest, and that of its many patrons and consumers

I am, Gentlemen

Yours faithfully,

CYRUS NOBLE.

To the Public —The great reputation which our Cyrus Noble Whisky has enjoyed in medical practice throughout the Eastern States and Europe for a period of nearly 25 years, prompts us to bring it to the notice of the Public of the Pacific Coast for similar use.

Its absolute purity, having by analysis been found to be entirely free from FUSEL OIL, and the improved quality imparted to it by its being retained in store for at least from 5 to 6 years after distillation, has given to the Physician a remedy long sought for in his own Materia Medica.

The certificates we hold of its efficacious use in the treatment of cases where NERVOUS PROSTRATION exists and vitality is at a low ebb, as is frequently observed in fevers ... to our country, of DYSPEPSIA, with its whole train of gastric troubles, of ... of the LIVER and the BLADDER, of CONSUMPTION, affording effective and ... relief to the afflicted victim, and of ... diseases or blood poisoning; ... in its use as a disinfectant the sufferer from premature death are all highly gratifying to us, and we believe we owe it to our numerous patrons on the coast to use every endeavor to introduce it here. Very respectfully,

DEADWOOD CITY.

On Sunday afternoon, after two days more of the roughest riding I ever experienced, our wearisome march was ended at Deadwood City. The town lies in the bottom of a long and deep gulch, through which Deadwood and Whitewood creeks wind their tortuous way close beside each other. The name of the region is derived from the vast number of dead pine trees which line the hillsides in all directions and lend a gaunt and spectral appearance to the landscape. The city itself lies through a greater part of the gulch bottom, and consists of a double row of rough board and log cabins lying on either side of the single street. The day of our arrival being Sunday, the town was full of miners, who had come in from their claims in the vicinity to spend a tithe of their vast earnings of the week. Standing at the head of the thoroughfare and looking over the long stream of moving humanity, I estimated the number of persons to be about 5,000. Gambling saloons, dance houses and bar rooms were all in full play, opening publicly from the street. A little knot of people gathered with uncovered heads in the middle of the roadway marked the progress of an afternoon prayer meeting—the full solemnity of worship, surrounded by the reckless hilarity of a frontier mining camp. The contrast was sharp and striking. A general view of the faces which surrounded me as I passed up the street was not conducive to a favorable preconception of the character of the inhabitants. A rougher or more desperate looking crowd, generally speaking, I never saw. Horse thieves, gamblers, murderers, surrounded me on every side.

The first sign I met which spoke unfavorably of the condition of the town was the cheapness of all wares exposed for sale. The general price set upon staple articles was but slightly in advance of that demanded in Cheyenne and other railway points, while if there was an active demand, as there would be if money was plenty, prices would be nearly doubled. A critical examination of the condition of Deadwood affairs fully justified my belief in the bad state of things. I found that perhaps fifty claim-owners were taking out large sums of money, varying in amount from $50 to $2,000 daily. Five out of six of the other miners were not making expenses, and two or three thousand men, who had invested their entire capital in reaching the hills, in the fond belief that they would find plenty of gold there, are now without employment, and without means to live or to get out of the region. The placer diggings of the Deadwood region are taken up. Quartz mining is the only resource left, and even that cannot be made remunerative to the poor man. Its development demands capital with which to bring in machinery and reduction works. At present there are too many men in the Black Hills for the extent of the country's resources. My advice to all is to keep away from there at least until spring. The heavy frosts and snows will set in soon, probably within four weeks, and after that the mines will be closed until march or April.—Springfield Republican.

TILDEN IN MICHIGAN.—One of the editors of the Des Moines (Iowa) State Register, who is recreating himself in the northern peninsula of Michigan, writes thus: "Two days and one night of travel from Chicago lands you at Marquette. Fourteen miles south of this place, at Negaunee, the iron region commences, although at every station and side track from there north there are long trains of cars loaded with the bright-colored ore-bearing rock and the more sedate looking hematite. Near Negaunee you find the charcoal kilns, built up in the shape of an Indian's wigwam. All the commerce of this region is connected with metal or wood. Escanaba is the great shipping point, the ore being transported from many feet beneath the surface. This is Tilden's town. Here he made several "bar'ls" of money. Here he owns mining property worth millions of dollars. Here he issued the Tilden shinplaster, by which the government was swindled out of something more than a million dollars. Here he was interested in a mining company that failed, the individual property of the stockholders being exempt from its debts. When the balance of the company proposed to pay the labor debt—a due the operatives—out of their pockets, Sammy refused to pay his proportion. Under the law the $40,000,000 of scrip which Tilden's companions [illegible] in lieu of money, should have paid a tax just the same as any other bank notes. For a long time no attention was paid to it, but finally a sharp eyed revenue agent made the discovery that Samuel was swindling the government, and reported the case to Washington. Orders came back to the agent to forward samples of the shinplaster to the Treasury Department. But Sammy owned a clerk or two at Washington, and of the millions that had been issued scarcely any could be found when the agent began to search. Some convenient clerk at the treasury department had informed Sammy and the currency disappeared. That was before Samivel had pronounced so plainly in favor of hard money. A detective was placed on track and enough was learned to show that the issue should have paid $1,500,000 of tax. Then Sammy procured the passage of a relief act, by which the government accepted $15,000 in full of all taxes, and the would-be president went on his way crying reform and rustling the receipts that vouched for the $1,485,000 swindle he had perpetrated. 'Rah for reform."

A STORY OF CURRAN.—It is related of Curran, the famous Irish orator and wit, that he was one evening sitting in a box at the French opera, between an Irish noblewoman, whom he had accompanied there, and a very young French lady. The ladies soon manifested a strong desire to converse, but neither of them knew a word of the other's language. Curran, of course, volunteered to intepret, or, in his own words, "to be the carrier of their [illegible] and accountable for their safe delivery." They went at it once, with all the ardor and zest of the Irish and French nature combined, but their interpreter took the liberty of submitting his own thoughts for theirs, and instead of remarks upon their dresses and the play, he introduced so many finely turned compliments that the two ladies soon became completely fascinated with each other. At last, their enthusiasm becoming sufficiently great, the wily interpreter, in conveying some very innocent questions from his countrywoman, asked the French lady if she would favor her with a kiss. Instantly springing across the orator, she imprinted a kiss on each cheek of the Irish lady, who was amazed at her sudden attack, and often asked Mr. Curran, "What in the world could that French girl have meant by such conduct in such a place?" He never revealed the secret, and the Irish lady always thought French girls were very ardent and sudden in their attachments.

THE ORDEAL OF AN EXPECTANT BRIDEGROOM.—The marriage ceremony is performed curiously by the Esquimax. When a boy kills a polar bear it is considered sufficient proof of his ability to maintain a family; he is therefore told to go and catch a wife. Watching his opportunity at night, he pounces upon a victim and attempts to carry her off; she, however, struggles and shrieks until she has collected round her a group of sympathizers. She then turns upon her captor, and bites and scratches until he is compelled to release her, then she darts into the crowd and attempts to escape. The expectant bridegroom follows her, but not unmolested. All the old women take scourges of dried seal skin and flagellate him unmercifully as he passes, making at the same time every effort to arrest him in his course. If, despite these little impediments to matrimonial bliss, he should catch his victim, the biting and scratching scene is renewed, and in all probability he is compelled to release her, and the chase, with its attendant discomforts is renewed. Should he overcome all obstacles the third capture proves effectual, and the victim, ceasing her struggles, is led away amid the acclamations and rejoicings of the assembled multitude.

Passengers on the through trains take meals at Albany now.

THE TERRITORIES.

Mitchell Gilliam, an appointee from Walla Walla to West Point, has been rejected and returned home.

Says the Watchman: "James Lock, while in the mountains had his leg badly crushed between a wagon wheel and a stump."

Unless more favorable weather comes soon a deal of damage will result to the grain crop in the White River region. Two-thirds of it still remains unharvested.

The treasurer of Washington Territory advertises that he will pay on presentation all warrants up to and including No. 780, or anterior to the date of January 31, 1876.

The Olympian says: "Preparations for the fair which takes place October 2d, are going forward as rapidly as possible. Articles for exhibition will be transported free on the Sound steamers and the North Pacific Railroad. For amusement there will be dancing in the evening and rifle shooting, horse racing, etc., in the day time. Liberal prizes for running and trotting races will be offered, and premiums will be given for meritorious entries.

OREGON.

The Albany Democrat has a new flag all the way from Philadelphia—a present.

A son of Mr Boyle, of Albany, fell from a tree at that place and broke a leg a few days ago.

Exempt badges have been distributed to fifteen members of Albany Fire Company No 1.

James Davidson, in the 85th year of his age, one of the earliest pioneers of Oregon, a veteran of the war of 1812, died at Salem on the 16th inst.

Jack Montgomery, one of the parties connected with the mail robbery case, attempted to take his child from his former wife on the streets of Salem on Friday, but failed.

The Democrats of New York are in a fearfully rabid state over the scheme of the State central committee to secure the adjournment of the convention and then nominate a tool of their own in place of Seymour. "No such demoralization," says the Albany Times (Dem.) "has existed in the State since 1848, and its cause can be traced to the leadership of Tilden." The prediction of John Kelly and other astute politicians of New York, that Governor Tilden could not carry his own State, begins to show unmistakable signs of realization.

The New York Evening Post challenges Mr. Robson, the actor, to name any critics connected with respectable newspapers who have accepted money considerations for their opinions, as he alleges they all have. It now becomes Mr. Robson's duty either to prove his statement or to abandon it.

English Grain Markets.

LONDON, Sept 18.—The Mark Lane Express says the weather throughout the week has been dull and autumnal. In the north a large portion of the cereal crop remains unsecured. Sprouted grains and deteriorated condition have therefore characterized the supplies at many of the northern country markets, and threshing has been in a great measure stopped by frequent rains. Seed crops have also sustained injury from the same cause. Mustard and rape seed especially have appeared in considerably less quantity than is usual at this time of year, the condition of both having much deteriorated. It is estimated that in Scotland barely half of the cereal crop is cut and no more than a quarter is stacked. The same delay prevails in Ireland, and outstanding grain is suffering in color and sprouting. Farmers, who were fortunate enough to secure their wheat in good order are in no hurry to sell now, as there appears a probability of better prices and the bulk of the supply is more or less affected by damp. Imports of wheat are still fair, but show a slight decrease—while exports have somewhat increased. The imports of last month are very little more than half those of the corresponding period of last year, when the rapid advance in values caused such a heavy stream of supplies. India still contributes largely to our foreign supply, and shipments from that quarter are regarded with undiminished interests as exercising considerable influence on the course of prices. The continual steadiness of the local trade seems to strengthen the opinion that prices have touched their lowest point. If foreign supplies do not increase, there is no reason why prices should not improve two or three shillings per quarter. Maize advanced in most of our markets despite the heavy supplies, the enormous consumption keeping prices steady. Besides, the approach of winter seems to give a hardening tendency. Oats and beans sold freely during the week. The former, notwithstanding heavy arrivals, advanced a sixpence to a shilling per quarter. Flour has been steady at the extreme prices of the preceding week. There has been a very steady demand for floating cargoes, and the price has improved fully a shilling per quarter for both wheat and maize.

LAND FOR IMMIGRANTS.

Choice Farms for Sale.

4,000 ACRES, IN QUANTITIES TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

230 ACRES DUE SOUTH AND ADJOINING the Railroad Depot at Salem, all under cultivation, and suitable for grain or vegetables.

946 Acres, four miles southeast of Salem, on the railroad, with Mill creek running through it. This is the choicest farming land in Marion county, with fine springs, consisting in part of the old Rector donation claim, on which I raised the past year fifty bushels of wheat and three tons of timothy per acre. The first crop of oats ever raised on part of this land measured ninety-four bushels per acre, grain weighed and ground obtained by Mr. Alfred Stanton, of Salem.

2,700 Acres of prairie and light brush land, with timber for farming purposes, bounded by the Willamette River for four miles, beautiful lake on the east, boat landings all along the river, commencing four miles north of Salem—all choice grain land—the largest and most suitable body of land to be found in the Willamette Valley to be purchased by a colony. To be sold from $15 to $25 per acre. This land will all be immediately resurveyed, and can be sold in larger or smaller parcels, to suit purchasers. It can be subdivided to the best possible advantage and I can offer any person or persons, or colony of persons, desiring to purchase homes in the best part of the Willamette Valley, near the city of Salem and within reach of the best social advantages, as well as most favorably located with respect to markets, greater advantages, on more favorable terms than they can ever expect to realize again.
